With Friends Agaiu.

Mr. Marvin Bigby, of Tacoma, Washington, returned Monday to Abbeville, and after seeing relatives and friends here hurried on to see other relatives and friends in House Path. He is a son of the late James A. Bigby. Marvin is a railroad man now, looking forward to promotion to engineer. He is as steady as a clock and strue as steel, having as much untiring energy as the engine which he fires. He receives Scents an hour for his services, and like his brothers, he saves a part of his earnings. His good habits and his good heart should win for him the good heart of a good girl. This afternoon his horse was found on the South Carolina side of the North Agusts bridge with a broken harness, causing fome uneasiness, and the road was gone over until the buggy was found a mile away. It has been drawn carefully from the road into some bushes. An account book belonging to Morton was nearby and his hat was found in the buggy. Footprints leading to the edge of the river were found, but none returning.

Morton is a well-to do man, is strictly temperate in babits, and is not known to have an enemy. His wife states that when he left home he was out of sorts. Suicide is feared by some, while others hint at foul play.

Mr. Mortons body has been found ahd was brought to Abbeville county, his old home, for burial. It is not known just when burial will take place.

Everywhere, U. S. A., August 5, 1907.

Dear Str: Everybody in the good old State of South Carolina deserves the best of everything, and in Boots and Shoes, Silppers and Tles for old and young, large and small, the stock of the ABBEVILLE SHOE Co., of ABBE VILLE, S. C., is in the writer's humble opinion, the best assorted and consists of the best wearing shoes ever put on the American market. There is only one thing to do to be convinced, and that is to give Mr. Bradley a call. He is anxious to do business with you and will treat you right in every particular.

Special attention is called to the line of Witt's 55 00 Shoes," "American Shoes," "Jeffersonian Shoes," "Southern King," "Dixie Girl," "Roxie Ward" and "High Point."

Do yourself justice and look over his line of shoes, before you buy your next pair. There is money in it for you.
